Dear Friends,

Thank you! Your generosity made a major difference in the lives of many Bridgeport Hospital patients and their families during the past year. Your support helped us improve the quality and safety of care and provide a positive experience during more than 18,000 patient admissions, 270,000 outpatient visits and 84,000 Emergency Department visits. Some of our recent service enhancements include:

- Installation of the newest-generation da Vinci Xi robotic surgery system, which brings unprecedented safety and precision to a variety of minimally invasive surgical procedures
- Innovative advances in cardiac care such as LINQ, the world's smallest implantable heart monitor, and the Lariat procedure, which dramatically reduces stroke risk in many patients with atrial fibrillation
- A new patient reception and education center in the Joel E. Smilow Heart Institute
- An expanded MedEase ambulatory medicine unit and Gyn-Oncology and Urogynecology specialty clinics
- Establishment of a Smilow Care Center at our outpatient campus in Trumbull, which makes the world-class specialty care of Smilow Cancer Hospital at Yale-New Haven more accessible to Fairfield County residents
- Groundbreaking for a new 120,000-square-foot medical office building at the Trumbull campus, to open in early 2016, that will house expanded cancer services, including a healing garden made possible by the Norma F. Pfriem Foundation, ambulatory surgery and other services
- Expanded cardiac surgery, hepatology, surgical oncology and vascular surgery services made possible by our relationship with Yale School of Medicine
- Together with our partners in Yale New Haven Health System, North Shore-LIJ Health and Med-Trans, the launch of SkyHealth, a new air ambulance service to facilitate patient transfers between hospitals

Much of this activity results from your ongoing philanthropic support of the Bridgeport Hospital Foundation. Without this support, success stories such as those on the following pages could not be told. Stories such as:

- Shaun Amberg and Masha Watson, whose ongoing commitment to the Ahlbin Rehabilitation Centers makes it possible for patients to regain full, active lives through the centers' services
- Richard Boas, MD, who established the Fay Fund to help less fortunate patients with non-medical needs
- Tom and Patti Keegan, whose dedication to the Norma Pfriem Breast Center enables so many women to complete the journey to breast cancer recovery
- John and Karen Paloian, whose Gary S. Porges Endowment helps needy patients with heart problems afford critical tests

On behalf of everyone at Bridgeport Hospital, thank you again for helping us accomplish our mission of providing the safest, most patient- and family-centered care. With you as partners, we look forward to achieving even more in the days and years ahead.

FACILITIES

MEDEASE, GYNECOLOGY A new MedEase ambulatory medicine unit, as well as Gyn-Oncology and Urogynecology specialty clinics opened, featuring a new entrance from Grant Street Plaza and a new waiting/reception area, exam rooms and infusion room.

TRUMBULL OUTPATIENT CAMPUS Ground was broken for a new 120,000-square-foot medical office building at the Bridgeport Hospital outpatient campus at 5520 Park Avenue, Trumbull, in September. The ceremony was preceded by the opening of a four-story, 450-space parking garage there. Services at Park Avenue will include a primary care/walk-in center, gastroenterology suites and Smilow Cancer Hospital outpatient care, including medical, surgical and radiation oncology and expanded radiology services, such as MRI, CT and PET scans.

SERVICE ENHANCEMENTS

FINANCIAL HEALTH Driving the hospital's healthy operating gain are strong clinical programs and volume, expense management, including cost and value savings of approximately $19 million; the integration of PriMed into Northeast Medical Group; and over $8.2 million contributed by donors to the Foundation.

OBLIGATED GROUP The group, formed in early 2014, includes Yale-New Haven and Bridgeport Hospitals, Northeast Medical Group and the Health Services Corporation. It enables these entities to be viewed as a single organization, which makes borrowing money less expensive and easier to access.

SAFETY STARTS WITH ME In June, the hospital launched its High Reliability Organization (HRO) staff training program, entitled Safety Starts with Me. HROs are organizations that operate successfully in high-risk industries. The goal is to build an environment of teamwork where sound practice habits are adopted, resulting in a culture of safety.

PRIMED JOINS NEMG On June 1, PriMed, a large primary and specialty physician practice based mainly in Fairfield County, officially joined Northeast Medical Group (NEMG) and Yale New Haven Health System. PriMed includes more than 100 physicians and advanced practice clinicians, many of whom are affiliated with Bridgeport Hospital.

AHLBIN REHABILITATION CENTERS 2014 marked the 75th anniversary of Bridgeport Hospital's Ahlbin Centers. Ahlbin Centers are the area leader in rehabilitation, providing physical, occupational, speech, recreational, music and art therapy in-hospital and at centers in Bridgeport, Fairfield, Shelton, Stratford and Trumbull.

NEW AD CAMPAIGN An advertising campaign was launched in early January entitled "Welcome to the new Bridgeport Hospital," focusing on changes such as upgraded facilities, new medical programs and the recruitment of top physicians and other staff. The campaign included print and electronic media throughout the region.

NEW IMPLANTS In April, Bridgeport Hospital became the first in Fairfield County to implant the Medtronic Reveal LINQ insertable cardiac monitor (ICM) system. The device is the smallest implantable cardiac monitoring device available.

EDUCATION PACT The University of Bridgeport (UB) and Bridgeport Hospital are developing plans to integrate the Bridgeport Hospital School of Nursing program into UB. Full transfer is planned, with the university eventually assuming complete program responsibility. Meanwhile, an interim agreement provides UB students with a Pathway to Nursing curriculum.

SKYHEALTH A new air ambulance service, SkyHealth began in November, making patient transfer faster. The service is a joint venture of Yale New Haven Health System, North Shore LIJ Health and Med-Trans. The SkyHealth helicopter divides its time between Bridgeport Hospital and North Shore-LIJ.

QUALITY RECOGNITION

JOINT COMMISSION Bridgeport Hospital was reaccredited by the Joint Commission. The survey was conducted in late February.

TOP DOCTORS Connecticut Magazine named 80 Bridgeport Hospital physicians among the best in the state in its annual “Top Doctors” issue.

STROKE CARE Bridgeport Hospital received the Get with the Guidelines – Stroke Silver Quality Achievement Award for implementing quality improvement measures for treating stroke patients. The award from the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association marks the third one for the hospital. The hospital is also certified by the Joint Commission and designated by the state as a Primary Stroke Center.

HYPERBARIC PROGRAM The hyperbaric oxygen therapy (HBOT) program at our Center for Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Medicine earned accreditation from the Undersea and Hyperbaric Medicine Society for meeting national patient care, staffing and facilities standards. The multiperson chamber is one of only two in Connecticut.

BREAST CARE CENTER The Norma Pfriem Breast Center at Bridgeport Hospital was reaccredited for a full three-year term by the National Accreditation Program for Breast Centers (NAPBC). Its support/rehabilitation and clinical trial programs also were chosen to be part of the NAPBC Best Practice Repository, which provides documents and other tools breast centers use to meet NAPBC standards.

BURN CENTER The American Burn Association (ABA) and the American College of Surgeons Committee on Trauma recertified the Connecticut Burn Center at Bridgeport Hospital, the state’s only burn center and one of only 63 verified U.S. burn centers. The center serves about 250 inpatients and 800 outpatients annually.

PHILANTHROPY HIGHLIGHTS

NORMA F. PFRIEM FOUNDATION GRANT

For the 9th consecutive year, the hospital received an extraordinary grant from the Norma F. Pfriem Foundation. The grant awarded $2 million for services provided by the Norma Pfriem Breast Center and Norma Pfriem Cancer Institute.

GOLF CLASSIC The 34th annual Coca-Cola Kaulbach Memorial Golf Classic in September drew 112 golfers to Brooklawn Country Club in Fairfield and raised more than $157,000 to support Bridgeport Hospital cancer services. Proceeds will help fund the oncology chaplaincy service, the Agnes W. and Ernest W. Kaulbach Visiting Nurse Professorship program and two programs for cancer survivors: Celebrate Life and Moving Forward.

HONOR YOUR CAREGIVER The Foundation’s Honor Your Caregiver program received its largest gift to date – $100,000 – from the husband of a patient, expressing his gratitude for care provided to his wife by Kevin Sprague, MD, and other Emergency Department staff.

HOME RUN Bridgeport Hospital’s annual Home Run 5K, held in May, was the most successful in the event’s 11-year history, attracting more than 700 runners and walkers and raising over $25,000 to support the hospital’s Joel E. Smilow Heart Institute.

ROSE OF HOPE The Norma Pfriem Breast Center’s Rose of Hope Luncheon in June in Fairfield drew a record 580 attendees and raised nearly $400,000. Keynote speakers Giuliana Rancic, E! News co-anchor, and husband Bill Rancic shared their experience with her 2011 breast cancer diagnosis.

SPRING GALA Bridgeport Hospital Auxiliary spring gala at Westport’s Birchwood Country Club drew more than 150 attendees. The Auxiliary presented a $100,000 check from its past year’s fundraising activities, the final installment of a four-year $350,000 pledge to support ambulatory surgery and the renovation of the hospital’s main lobby.

RESOURCE CENTER A new patient reception and education center at the hospital’s Joel E. Smilow Heart Institute is the gift of Joel Smilow himself. The addition was dedicated at an event in July.

CONNECTICUT BURN CENTER The Connecticut Burn Center at Bridgeport Hospital benefited from generous gifts provided to the Foundation by dozens of organizations and individuals. The 24th annual Bridgeport Harbor Station Golf Classic, in September, raised over $35,000 for the Burn Center. Leadership gifts were received from Bridgeport Firefighters Local 834 through its annual “United for Recovery” event, a grant from the Stratford Professional Firefighters Burn Foundation and the first Michael Ness “Pay It Forward” Golf Tournament in Norwalk.

Masha Watson and Shaun Amberg

Making a difference in quality of life

*Shaun Amberg and Masha Watson take quality of life personally. Not theirs.
The 10,000-plus patients treated annually at Bridgeport Hospital's five area

Without the Ahlbin Centers' physical, occupational and speech therapy programs, quality of life for these patients – infant to geriatric – would suffer. For Shaun and Masha, that is not an option.

Neither one is a therapist. Instead, the two provide another essential component – fundraising support. Shaun, a Fairfield resident, served as Ahlbin Auxiliary president and Masha, from Easton, was treasurer until last October, when the Ahlbin Auxiliary and hospital Auxiliary merged. Now, they co-chair the hospital Auxiliary's rehabilitation committee.

New positions, same responsibility: coordinate Ahlbin fundraising events that support its rehabilitation programs. "Funds raised by committee volunteers provide equipment and support education programs that keep our therapists at the top of their field," said Shaun, an Ahlbin Auxiliary volunteer since 1997 when she first sought an outlet for her design skills.

A friend at the Ahlbin Auxiliary told Shaun about the Enchanted Castle, an annual pre-Halloween fundraiser for children, featuring storybook characters and theme rooms. "I began designing rooms. Next thing I knew I was chairing the event."

Masha, wife of Bridgeport Hospital anesthesiologist Charles Watson, MD, first volunteered in 2005 after similar recruitment by an Auxiliary member. "I'm a numbers person, so overseeing the Ahlbin Auxiliary's finances and now serving as the hospital Auxiliary's assistant treasurer is a natural fit for me." But it is the Ahlbin Centers' care that motivates both.

"Many people don't realize how important rehabilitation is to quality of life, especially after surgery," Masha noted.

The difference the Ahlbin staff makes is especially evident in those treated previously at other facilities, said Shaun. "After they come to us, their quality of life improves so much."

Improvement results directly from the quality of staff at the Ahlbin Centers. "It's exciting to see the immediate benefits patients receive from the Ahlbin Centers' programs," said Masha. "When you consider the mental and physical challenges they face and how rehabilitation affects their quality of life, it's truly amazing."

Staff dedication and pride filters down to the volunteers, a group that Shaun said has a roll-up-their-sleeves-and-get-it-done attitude. That difference is why they volunteer – and how it enriches their own quality of life.

Removing a personal and community blind spot

Richard Boas, MD, thinks outside the philanthropy box. “I like to be involved in things that haven’t been tried,” said the former Norwalk ophthalmologist and glaucoma specialist, which explains his gift to create the Fay Fund last October.

The Bridgeport Hospital Foundation Fay Fund honors Almin May, a family acquaintance everyone called Fay, who died of breast cancer. “She was a hardworking Jamaican immigrant and a wonderful person,” said the Wilton resident, who also recalled how her breast cancer battle led to financial hardship.

Dr. Boas helped with that hardship, serving as Fay’s advocate. “Her situation touched me deeply. I resolved to do what I could so others wouldn’t be in her position.

“I want to help those less fortunate, and in doing so, give them opportunities Fay didn’t have,” said Dr. Boas. “It helps these individuals and their families maintain their dignity.”

He approached Susan Chudwick, the Foundation’s director of Development, to gauge interest in creating a Fay Fund at Bridgeport Hospital. “The response was immediate and positive,” he noted.

The Fay Fund is designed to help Bridgeport Hospital’s patients and families meet non-medical expenses, such as rent, utilities, clothing, transportation, even funeral expenses, if necessary.

The Fay Fund is not Dr. Boas’ first foray into social advocacy. A trip to South Korea (he is the father of a child adopted from Korea) moved him to establish the Korean Unwed Mothers Support Network (KUMSN), which works to address the difficult situation of unwed mothers in this wealthy democracy. Many of these women are pressured by their families, society and government to give up their children. “These are capable women in their 20s and 30s, many with advanced degrees. It’s a basic human right to raise one’s own child,” he explained.

“With a staff in Seoul, we supported scholarly research, met with government officials, encouraged self-advocacy, and received media attention,” he noted. The program eventually transitioned to one fully operated by Koreans as a non-governmental organization. Dr. Boas and his work were recognized by South Korea’s president.

The Fay Fund and KUMSN were inspired by seeing a need and addressing it. “I found that very few were doing this kind of work, which made me realize I needed to,” he said. “Hopefully, others will see the importance of helping those in need.

“If I hadn’t retired from my practice, I wouldn’t have been able to pursue this second career in social advocacy,” added Dr. Boas. “I’m an ophthalmologist who specialized in a disease causing blind spots and found my own.”

Patti and Tom Keegan

When a cause becomes a need

Until 2011, Patti and Tom Keegan considered Bridgeport Hospital's Norma Pfriem Breast Center one of several important philanthropic causes – an ideal way for the Fairfield couple to help uninsured and underinsured area women obtain breast cancer screening and treatment. Then the cause became a need.

"I was diagnosed with stage-one breast cancer," recalled Patti. Within a week, the Pfriem team guided her through an MRI, then a mastectomy, followed by rounds of chemotherapy. "I was very fortunate to have them behind me," said a grateful Patti.

She and Tom now know first-hand the compassionate care they once described to others in need. "The team at the center totally feels like family," said Patti, a team she and Tom first supported through the center's annual Rose of Hope Luncheon.

"I had attended several Rose of Hope fundraisers with friends," explained Patti, which convinced the Keegans to host the event-under-a-tent at their home in 2004 – and every year since. With the venue change and increased space their home provided came increased financial support for the center. "We started with about 150 attending and it's grown to about 600," said Tom.

One growth factor is the guest speakers – individuals like actresses Katie Holmes and Julie Bowen, and celebrities such as Giuliana and Bill Rancic – who share their breast cancer stories. But the biggest factor remains the cause: increasing breast cancer awareness and assisting nearly 1,000 women each year.

"Since the first Rose of Hope Luncheon in 2000, we've developed a loyal, dedicated following," noted Tom. Their commitment never wavers. "It just keeps growing," said Tom, as does the Keegans' involvement.

In 2012, Tom – who never ran a race before – completed a local half marathon to raise funds for the center. "I was motivated by Patti's struggle," he explained. His motivation also resulted in overwhelming support from co-workers at the New York City wealth management firm where he works. "They all came and supported Patti."

With that success, Tom elevated his sights in 2013 and 2014 to complete a full marathon – in New York City – raising nearly $250,000, which led to his next challenge: the 2015 Boston Marathon. "That might be my last," he added, acknowledging his aching knees.

While Tom's marathon days may end in Boston, the Keegans' support of the Norma Pfriem Breast Center will not. "The financial support raised has been great, but the need is even greater," explained Tom. "We're all in this to find a cure for breast cancer," emphasized Patti. "Let's get rid of it."

Taking community needs to heart

Heart. John and Karen Paloian have it to spare. Enough heart to share through their Gary S. Porges Endowment. Named after Karen's brother, who died in 2013 from heart disease at age 58, the fund helps Bridgeport Hospital heart patients who cannot afford testing.

But the Paloians shared their heart long before launching their fund in 2014. "I began attending functions by the Norma Pfriem Breast Center in 2009 and was very impressed with the work by the center staff and its volunteers," said Karen. "So, I volunteered any way I could."

One project was publishing a book, Portraits of Beauty, journeys of local women overcoming breast cancer. "It helped them feel really good about themselves," she added.

Working with Julie Jandali, wife of Shareef Jandali, MD, Surgery, and Kelly Kenler, wife of Andrew Kenler, MD, Surgery, the three coordinated the project. All elements of the project – makeup, hair styling, photography, even printing – were donated.

"It did not cost the Breast Center one cent," said John, which maximizes the earning power of this powerful fundraiser. "One-hundred percent of the proceeds go to the Breast Center."

Attending Breast Center events also gave the Paloians an idea: If the center does such a remarkable job of raising funds to help women with breast cancer, why not develop a way to help patients with heart problems?

A conversation with Stuart Zarich, MD, chief of Cardiology and a friend of John's, confirmed that need had yet to be met. Which led the Paloians to start the endowment. What better way to honor Gary's memory than by helping others?

"Establishing the endowment as a community outreach is just the first step," explained John, a participant in many Bridgeport Hospital Foundation events, including the annual Coca-Cola Kaulbach Memorial Golf Classic. "Our goal is to expand it each year through the contribution of others and see it evolve into something bigger."

Donation size doesn't matter, he added. "Anyone can help. Whether it is just a few dollars, enough to cover the cost of one test or more, the important thing is to give those in need access to the hospital's outstanding resources."

Integral to the endowment are the Paloians' children, Alyssa, a physician assistant, and Michael, who works at a private investment firm. "It is a family effort," said John. "They have been involved from the beginning and will continue to take on responsibility."

Because helping those in need is something they all take to heart.
